

"D 66"

2013 Grenache

Vin de Pays des Cotes Catalanes

Produced and bottled by Dept. 66, Maury, France

In France, the "department" exists as an administrative division much like a county does in America. Deep in the Southwest corner of the country lies Department 66, which serves as the inspiration and namesake for our winery and vineyards in the town of Maury. Roughly two hours east of Barcelona, Spain and thirty minutes inland from the ancient Roman port city of Perpignan, old vine Grenache thrives along with Syrah and Carignan in the "Cotes Catalanes;" a sub-appellation of the Roussillon. We own and maintain 300 acres (120 hectares) of vineyards among the Pyrénées-Orientales mountain range, which were planted more than 60 years ago. The terroir is dominated by black schist, with small deposits of granite and limestone in red, rocky soils known as angile. Similar to the nearby growing region of Priorat in Spanish Catalonia, schist is a crystalline rock based soil that retains heat well but is poor in organic nutrients and nitrogens. Apart from lowland scrub, "garrigue," and sparse tree plantings, very little agriculture survives here. The intense heat from the daytime sun is reflected back to the gnarled, head trained vines at night, increasing ripeness while maintaining acidity. The result is a very low yield (half ton per acre), but makes for a dark, concentrated, and finesse driven wine that embodies this singular region. We must acknowledge our General Manager Richard Case and Vineyard Manager & Cellarmaster Bob Doyle who continue to make this dream a reality since 2008.

Winemaker's notes

Opaque and dense purple in appearance, the wine brims with a fragrant array of saturated cherries, black fruits, acacia flowers, and mountain herbs framed in new French oak. Mighty upon entry, a mineral tinged, red fruit medley dominates the palate. Generous flavors of raspberries, figs, and ripe blackberries slowly emerge which are supported with a rich silkiness from the balanced tannin profile. A distinctive mineral note is evident in the finish which is rather lengthy and commanding.
